

Privacy Policy

Hamburg PC Services regards your privacy as extremely important and acknowledges your right to protection of all personal information you choose to share with us, including your name, address, e-mail address, telephone number, etc.

Choice of Information Collected

Hamburg PC Services may collect the personal information that you voluntarily supply when you choose to participate in some capacity with the site. Some examples, though not exhaustive, include: ordering products, entering contests, completing surveys, or requesting information. Hamburg PC Services plainly informs you prior to any choice to supply this information, and clearly defines how this personal information will be used. You have the right to choose whether or not to provide us this information. If you do choose not to provide such information to us, you may not be able to participate fully in all options, offers and services.

Uses of personal information

If you supply Hamburg PC Services with your email address and/or postal address, you may from time to time, receive mailings sent to you with the intent to let you know you of any new products, services, or other information that we deem to be useful to you. If you would rather not receive any mailings of this kind, then you can let us know that at any time and we will stop sending them.

Security

Hamburg PC Services resolves to take all appropriate and reasonable measures to protect any and all personal information that you share with us from unauthorized access or disclosure. We never spam to your email or sell your personal information!

Commitment

Hamburg PC Services is firmly committed to the principle of individual privacy, and is consistently involved in and reasonably supports common industry steps to keep individual privacy rights safe on the Internet. Personal data privacy is a relatively new and constantly changing area, and Hamburg PC Services is actively developing to meet these demands.
